ABOUT THIS COURSE

The suturing course provides the theoretical and practical essentials to close and manage noncomplex traumatic laceration, biopsies and surgical excisions.

This course is ideally suited to nurses, doctors and medical students that have little or no suturing experience or wish to advance their current basic skill of only using single interrupted suturing technique.

There is an online component to complete prior to attending the practical day.

Please ignore the automated email re selecting a practical day as you are attending the onsite course on Saturday, 13 March 2027.
